

Abstract:

5 The invention relates to methods of producing metal-containing antimicrobial plastics or plastic products and also to plastic products obtainable by the method, especially plastic products for medical requirements.